Possible Feature - "Bury your memory capsule at sea"

Open Sea

Drifting Capsules

The world spans 12 users and 2 countries

- Idea:

  To spice things up (as a social networking app), instead of burying your time capsule in your backyard, you could opt to throw your jar of memories into the "Open Sea."

  This feature would tentatively allow you expand your social network and possibly make new friends by basically sending a piece of your memories for any other member of this virtual world to retrieve.

  As the owner of the capsule, you would still be able to invite friends to share items into this capsule, but once sealed and thrown, you can no longer tell when and by whom this capsule would be found and opened. Who knows!

  At the receiving end, the lucking person who happens to find this capsule a year down the road may choose to contact you and become that new friend from the far east..

  Warning: don't be a creep sending nude pictures of yourself off to contaminate our virtual waters!!!
